Objective

- Write an engaging & effective personal statement capturing your strengths and career goals.

Purpose of a Personal Statement

A personal statement, also known as a statement of purpose, demonstrates your unique qualifications to an admissions committee. It also illustrates your writing ability, creativity, and career goals. Admissions committee members look for interesting, insightful and non-generic personal statements.

Get Started

Before filling out the application, reflect on and make notes about your:

Personal History

- Prior life experiences, events, achievements relevant to your career choice or application to graduate school
- Life events or experiences that are distinct or unusual and that relate to your professional goals
- People who have influenced your decision to pursue this field or who have had a significant impact on your values as they relate to this choice

Academic Life

- Research interests and academic accomplishments/recognitions
- Professors who have influenced you most academically

Work Experience

- Previous jobs, volunteer experience, and/or extracurricular activities that have influenced your career choice or career goals

Answer these Questions

1. What is special, distinctive, unique or impressive about you or your life story?
2. How did you learn about the field? What stimulated your interest in this field?
3. What characteristics and skills do you possess that enhance your prospects for success?
4. Have you overcome any unusual obstacles or hardships?
5. Are there any gaps in your academic record that you want to explain?
6. What are the most compelling reasons for the admissions committee to be interested in you?
7. What are your short and long-term goals?
8. What is the most important thing for an admissions committee to know about you?

Formatting Tips

1. Read the application carefully; follow the directions and adhere to word or page limits.
2. Be sure to answer the question/topic(s) posed in the application.
3. Choose a font style and size that can be easily read by your audience.
4. Write in 1st person; avoid referring to yourself in 3rd person.
5. Proofread for typos and grammatical errors.
Do’s & Don’ts

Do
- Aim for depth, not breadth.
- Write why an event is significant to you and what you learned from it.
- Focus on one or two specific themes.
- Concentrate on capturing the reader’s attention and interest in the opening paragraph.
- Have specific reasons for applying to each program.
- Strive to make the essay unique by using concrete examples from your life experience, allowing you to stand out from other applicants.
- Select trusted others to read and provide feedback on your personal statement, especially if English is not your primary language.
- Create a conclusion that refers back to your introduction and ties your points together.
- Connect life experiences to your professional goals.
- Articulate career goals clearly (both short and long term).
- Be selective when choosing supplemental materials to submit (only submit materials requested by school).
- Comment (briefly) on irregular grade trends or circumstances that affected test scores.

Don’t:
- Submit the same essay to multiple schools.
- Write a clichéd introduction or conclusion.
- Preach to the reader.
- Repeat information elsewhere in your application.
- Discuss money as a motivating factor.
- Cram too much information into the essay.
- Exceed word and/or page limits.
- Exaggerate your qualifications or experience.
- Discuss potentially controversial topics (e.g., politics & religion).
- Use gimmicky formatting (e.g., addendums to applications, videotapes, and audiotapes).

Common Mistakes

1. Sloppiness
   - Avoid spelling, punctuation, formatting, and grammatical errors. Be sure to leave yourself adequate time to edit and revise your essay; you do not want to send your first draft to the admissions committee.

2. Writing one statement for all schools
   - Learn about each school’s program, including research interests and publications of faculty. Clearly state reasons for pursuing a degree from that school.

3. Boring content
   - Have a positive tone, vary length and structure of sentences, and avoid clichés.

4. Sounding like everyone else
   - Identify your strengths and decide what sets you apart from other applicants.

5. Dwelling on crisis
   - If you discuss a personal crisis, it should relate to the purpose of your essay. Mention how it affected your personal goals, perspective, or academic performance. Be careful not to include graphic or irrelevant details.

Evaluating Suggestions

Evaluating your personal statement is an important part of the writing process. Carefully read over your personal statement and use the Personal Statement Evaluation Chart to critique your statement. Then ask at least one person, whose opinion you value, (e.g., friend, teacher, family member) to review and evaluate your personal statement using the Personal Statement Evaluation Chart found on page 3.

Personal Statement Critiques

You may bring your personal statement to The Career Center to be critiqued by a Career Advisor. No appointment is necessary. Career advisors are available 9:00-4:30 Monday through Friday (except Fridays 1:30 to 2:30). Bring an electronic and paper copy. You can use the Career Center’s Employability Skills Lab to make changes as needed.
